FRANK BUETTNER BURIED

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon with Bishop James N. Walker in charge, over the remains of little Frank Buettner, 4 year old son of William Buettner.

On Wednesday, the lad complained of pains in his stomach, and on Thursday he passed away, despite all that human skill could do to save him. The cause of death is unknown although the drinking water is thought by some to have had something to do with it.

Interment was made at the local cemetery and the parents have the profound sympathy of the community in their deep bereavement, which is doubly hard as they are just recently out from Germany and cannot understand the English language.

Quarterly Conference Featured By Timely Addresses

Quarterly conference of the Taylor Stake came to a close with the M.I.A. session which dismissed at 9 o'clock Sunday night. There were four sessions for the general public, besides several other special meetings called for executive officers of the different wards in this stake.

Dean Bennion of the School of Education, University of Utah, was here as general representative of the church Sunday Schools, with Mrs. Louise Robinson, president of the church Relief Societies, and Mary C. Kimball, associate editor of the Relief Society Magazine. The women were accredited representatives of the Church for the Relief Societies.

The achievements of the women in the Relief Society departments were referred to by Mrs. Robinson, who delivered an inspirational address during the afternoon services.

In checking up reports she said that these sisters had given 54,000 days in volunteer work, caring for the sick and needy. The members of the Taylor Stake, according to the official report, had given 600 days of service gratis.

The speaker spoke of the wisdom of the church leaders who years before the great war had advised them to store wheat, and when the call came for wheat the Relief societies responded with over 200,000 bushels of wheat. "This," she said, "is a Congressional record of the achievements of our Relief society workers. Today we have standing to our credit in the church $400,000 which is drawing interest."

Mrs. Kimball gave a very interesting talk on the use of leisure time. She particularly urged the reading of good books.

Good books mean much to the young men and boys if read, for they get an opportunity through books to revel in the lives of good men. She advised to read slowly and give more time for reflection.

Dean Bennion delivered a fine discourse during the Sunday afternoon service, using as his text "Love and Charity." He said "It doesn't matter how much skill we possess or the amount of knowledge we acquire—without love we are nothing. We are not good citizens unless we love our fellowmen, but by manifesting love toward our fellowmen we acquire knowledge and progress."

J. W. Evans of the Stake Presidency delivered an inspiring address during the morning session where he pointed out the sacrifices made by the great philosophers and other noted leaders for the welfare of future generations in which we are also showing the benefits.

President Snow, who took charge of the conference, due to Pres. Allen's throat trouble, gave a very timely talk on temporal things, in which he offered some excellent advice to the people regarding their financial problems during the present period of depression. The people were urged to be conservative in their spending and to meet their obligations and get out of debt.

The closing session of conference consisted of a program that was characteristic of the splendid M.I.A. ideals. The discussion on the economic problem by Prof. L. N. Nelson, dean of applied science of the B.Y.U., Utah, aroused considerable interest as the speaker went into the details concerning the present unemployment problem and the economic depression.

Music for the conference was under the direction of C. F. Tollestrup, stake choir leader and many beautiful anthems and musical numbers were given. The male chorus contributed three selections during the closing session.

"The 60-cent payment on wheat will be made on the basis of No. 1 Northern grade at Fort William.

Bigger Tonnage Feature Of Fourth Annual Tour

The fourth annual Field Excursion of the Fifteen Ton Beet Club took place Wednesday and was attended by more than 150 people travelling in 32 cars. The tour this year centered around Raymond and featured "More tons per acre." The weather was ideal and had it not been for the early harvest a great many more people would have taken part.

The tour went through the field of Don E. Wilde, where a combination of spuds, beets and alfalfa in the rotation was shown. The A. J. Walton farm was visited, the main topic being the "Value of Sheep Manure in increasing tonnage," and the discussion was led by J. W. Evans.

W. H. Zobel's farm was next showing a series of fertilizer tests with varying amounts of phosphate. K. W. Walker led the discussion and said that from indications 100 to 250 lbs. of commercial fertilizer per acre would be best. Then David Meldrum's 8 acre plot was visited, and the "Use of Fertilizer on Soil of High Fertility" was the subject, led by T. C. McBeath.

On the Louis Brandley farm, where there is 85 acres of beets, the theme was "The proper laying out of land for irrigation," and Mr. Jacobson of the Irrigation Service at Brooks, said that because of careful planning one man could irrigate 15 to 20 acres per day in this field.

Phil Baker's was the next stop. Here the subject was "Obtaining the greatest efficiency from all acreage and crop rotation and fertilization and barnyard manure." Mr. Baker was piled with numerous questions regarding his results.

After luncheon the Reservoir Farm was visited and the subject here was "Phosphate in connection with Sweet Clover and in Preventing Seedling Diseases." The factory was visited, and the big job in handling beets explained, and the growers were told under what conditions beets would be accepted.

The last stop was at the A. C. where Mr. Longman showed the tour the grounds and buildings and prize steers being prepared for the show at Chicago this fall.

SPLENDID LUNCHEON

The luncheon was held at the new Second Ward Recreation Hall and served by the Second Ward Relief Society ladies, who left nothing undone, and spread before the visitors the good things of the land in a very appetizing manner. The Sugar Beet was the item of decoration, and a color scheme was worked out that was not only pleasing but very impressive.

T. Geo. Wood was master of ceremonies at Luncheon and program.

In addition to the factory officials and officers of the beet growers association there were at the table Dr. Neidig, Dr. W. H. Fairfield of the Dominion Experimental Farm, his assistant, A. E. Palmer; P. J. Jennings, commissioner of irrigation, Calgary; Mr. Jacobson of the federal service, Brooks; M. L. Freng, district agriculturist, Lethbridge; Messrs. Campbell and Alcock of the C.P.R. service, Brooks; Prof. Longman, principal of the Raymond School of Agriculture, W. R. Stevens of Barnwell, twice winner of the Herald shield in the Fifteen Ton Club competition and others. C. F. Steele represented the Lethbridge Herald sponsors of the 15 Ton Club. Remarks were made by Mr. L. Brandley for the growers and Mr. T. Geo. Wood for the company. Delightful musical numbers were given by Mr. Erickson, violinist, and Mrs. D. A. Watson, contralto.

Dr. Neidig, who flew his Moth plane from Lethbridge to Raymond in 12 minutes in his address described the new fertilizer industry at Trail which he said would be an industry Canada would be proud of. It was of national importance and the tests being made in the four western provinces had been most conclusive. The C. P. R., the various governments, schools of agriculture, machinery companies and others including General Motors of Canada, had given valuable co-operation. He thanked all these agencies. While the use of phosphates was not a "cure all" for agriculture he was convinced that the returns from its use would prove very profitable. Dr. Neidig also stressed the value of careful watering of beets in order to give the fertilizer a chance to do its work. He promised some interesting results from their best tests this fall after the data is gathered and reports written.

Record Run Is Prospected

Everything is being put in readiness for the biggest run the Canadian Sugar Factories Ltd. has had. The latest estimate placed the total tonnage, barring inclement harvest conditions at 105,000 tons and judging from the reports of large beets and uniform stands this is a conservative estimate. This will mean at least 100 day run at the factory and probably longer and will furnish employment to 200 people or better during that time.

Several alterations and additions have been and are being made in and about the factory to cope with the increased tonnage. Another slicer, the same size as the one that has been used has been installed, which will do away with any tie-ups due to rocks in the beets or broken knives, because either slicer can be cut out and the other one run 1,100 tons per day when fed to capacity. To handle the increased pulp, the old wooden dumps have been done away with and new metal ones installed which take out a great deal more water, and put the pulp in the silo drier and less bulky. This will make a great difference in the total tonnage the pits will hold. Then to handle the extra beets, a large area has been levelled off east of the beet bins, and a new pier put out there, and it is the intention to dump all beets weighed at the factory scales on this new dump ground, keeping the bins for outside beets. The pier will also be used later to scoop up the beets and put them into the lines when needed in the factory.

It looks like a record run in every way, and with the earlier maturing beet seed which was planted this year, digging will commence Sept. 18, and the factory will start its run on Sept. 25th, about nine days ahead of last year.

"AUNT LUCIA" TO BE STAGED BY ONE HUNDRED LOCAL PEOPLE—SPONSORED BY GREAT WAR VETERANS

FAMOUS COLLEGIATE COMEDY TO BE PLAYED ON SEPT. 5th and 6th. THE FLAPPERS CHORUS, COLLEGE GIRLS PLAYED BY BUSINESS MEN A BIG FEATURE

On next Fri. and Sat. nites Sept. 5th and 6th the famous collegiate comedy will be staged at the Opera House under the Auspices of the Great War Veterans for the purpose of building their memorial monument.

It promises to be one of the biggest amateur shows ever staged in this community and includes a cast of over one hundred local people. It is a burlesque comedy of American College life and has a number of hilarious comedy spots. The show has been staged through the middle west and eastern states with hundreds of organizations and has been a tremendous success wherever played. Everyone who has seen the show claimed that no one can afford to miss it. The show is a story of the Homecoming at Bula Bula College and is collegiate in every way. Besides the play proper it has a number of special features.

The play proper deals with the story of the Home coming of Bula Bula College. The setting of the show is a Fraternity drawing room. The whole story revolves around the school anxiously awaiting the arrival of an old maid Aunt Lucia Wakefield who is worth fifty million dollars and who plans to give the college a large sum of money. She is to be the honored guest at the Homecoming of Bula Bula College and is an aunt to one of the girls. Jerry Watson played by (Lou King) one of the college boys with the help of his two room mates dresses himself as an old lady for the entertainment of his fellow fraternity brothers, and while dressed in this outfit is seen by one of the Prof. and immediately introduced to the college as Aunt Lucia.

Be sure and see the outcome of this comedy by coming to the show on Sept 5th or 6th at the Opera House.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

We call the attention of our readers to the article elsewhere in this issue regarding the future of the Sugar Beet industry. The suggestion is put forth there that for a year or so beet growers may have to take a little less for their beets until a readjustment of prices in a great many lines have taken place.

We can imagine the consternation and threatening with which this announcement will be received by many growers, who will stoutly maintain that beets cannot be grown and show a profit at less than such and such a figure and that if prices are lower they will not raise beets, etc., etc.

Before we go too far and make too many wild assertions a little thoughtful consideration should be given to the beet raising industry, and it should be studied apart from the cash price received from the beets. Before we leave the cash side of it however consider that a farmer had a 15 ton stand of beets, how much would he have to get to pay all of his expenses and show a nice profit. It seems to us that $5.50 or $6 per ton, paying $82.50 or $90.00 per acre would be a sum well worth considering.

Now as to the by-products. Experiments have proven that beet tops are worth pound for pound the feeding value of alfalfa hay. We don't know how many ton of tops there would be on an acre of 15 ton beets but it would be considerable. Then there is the pulp, one of the finest stock feeds obtainable, and growers can get it for practically nothing.

On top of all this, land is kept clean the fertility is maintained and increased, you do not have to summerfallow every other year and pay taxes and water rates on something that isn't producing a dollar's worth of crop. And so, we say, when everything is considered there is value far beyond the cash return for beets in the beet raising industry.

Some will say, "I have no stock and I can't use my tops, pulp, and beetlaseses." Well if you have no stock, you should have, and until you do have you will probably be in dire circumstances regardless of prices, tonnage, and what not.

"There's safety in diversification and beets."

FASCINATING LINKS

Ottawa, August 14: (Special to the Recorder)—Herman Moll, whose name is known to all interested in the early maps of the world, was born in Holland and came to England in 1635. While in Holland he was trained in the art of map making and when he came to England he made individual maps of the cities of England and Scotland. A number of copies of his works are to be seen in the map room of the Dominion Archives and his maps and his early atlas, which was compiled between 1700 and 1720 are of unusual interest.

In an early map of North America which is remarkably accurate for that early date, it is noted that he calls Florida Louisiana and other discrepancies are clearly depicted in the same map he pictures California as an Island, a belief which was rampant at that date.

It is the pictures which accompany Moll's maps which have made them famous. They are valuable and have been copied for use as lampshades and even in decorating rooms of houses. A view of the manner in which the fishing for, curing and drying of cod fish is made is one of the notable pictures he made. The scene is depicted at "New Foundland" and is colored. Immediately it is seen that the habit of the fisherman is almost identical with the clothes they use today, the long rubber boots and short coat and apron. The fishing boats, with their masts, and the women engaged in drying the cod is very realistic and it is quickly seen that Moll had an artist's eye for the beautiful and the unusual as well.

THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

Southern Alberta will produce this year the greatest crop of sugar beets in its history by a large margin. Old beet growing areas increased their acreage last spring and new districts including the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project are swinging into beets on a large scale. The industry in other words has now become pretty firmly rooted and if our prairie friends eat more "Alberta Sugar" we will doubtless see steady expansion of the industry.

Like other industries, sugar has seen better days. In fact, it is now passing through a critical period and it seems to be a question as to how long the operating companies can hang on. Markets are depressed and another large beet sugar crop will be turned off in a few months.

Authorities on economics and business are speculating in the cause of the depression in the industry and on how long it is likely to last. There is much uncertainty about the outlook although with industry generally now passing through a cycle of depression there is sure to be "better days" ahead. Depression and prosperity seems to go in cycles and a cycle of good times is about due.

But getting down to the facts from a sugar man's point of view, S. H. Love of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, parent company of Canadian Sugar Factories Ltd., of Raymond tells us in the "U. & I. Farm Messenger," that there is too much sugar in the world. In other words, we are producing more than we consume and as long as that condition exists higher prices seem remote.

But taking a cheering view in the face of highly unsatisfactory market conditions, Mr. Love sums up his observations thus:

"Regardless of all this tribulation, I am one of those who believe strongly in the future of the Beet Sugar industry for the following reasons: First, the maintenance of the industry as an insurance against high prices is worth a lot of money to the consumers, and they simply can't afford to let it die. When the fact is made known, as it ultimately will be, a more sympathetic attitude toward the production of beet sugar is bound to ensue. Second, the farmer in order to keep up the fertility of their soils, need the sugar beet badly, and in my opinion they are going to take a more active interest in the preservation of the industry in the future than they have done heretofore. Third, sugar is a concentrated product that can be shipped to the market without paying out most of its value in transportation charges, the thing that offsets the shipment of most all farm crops due to their bulk so don't lose heart, folks, let's stay with the old ship, better days are coming."—Lethbridge Herald.

BUSINESS SUMMARY

In the Prairie Provinces Wholesale and Retail trade generally is quiet and below normal for this season. Groceries and other staple lines are in fair demand, but purchases of all commodities are being made on a hand-to-mouth basis. Collections are slow. ## Here and There

Successful Canadian exhibitors in the International Grain and Hay Show to be held at Chicago, November 29-December 6, will be awarded liberal bonuses in addition to the regular premiums offered in the prize list now being distributed. The provincial governments of Quebec, Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, the Calgary Board of Trade and the Canadian Pacific Railway have also announced offers of special awards for Canadian exhibitors.

That elk are attracted by music seems to be established by the actions of two fine specimens of that animal which stroll out of the bush when dancing begins at the Banff Springs Hotel every evening. Under the bathroom windows they begin to shake their heads and prance, caw and caper while the music lasts, not even stopping to eat until the orchestra has ceased playing.

Canadian poultry are rapidly being recognized throughout the world as reaching unusually high standards and recently the S.S. Empress of Canada, clearing from Vancouver to China, Japan and the Philippines, carried 60 head of registered white leghorns consigned to Manila to be used in building up the poultry industry of the islands. The birds came from a poultry farm near Vancouver.

Captain R. W. McMurray, for the past five years marine superintendent of the Canadian Pacific's British Columbia coast steamship service at Vancouver and prior to that a commander with the Canadian Pacific trans-Atlantic fleet, has been gazetted in the London Times of July 14 captain in the Royal Naval Reserve, promoted from the rank of commander, R.N.R. Captain McMurray, whose rank is equivalent to the army rank of brigadier-general, is one of the few living Canadians holding such a high position in the R.N.R.

The province of Manitoba last month celebrated its sixtieth birthday. Where 60 years ago the buffalo reigned alone, Manitoba farmers are now pasturing 360,000 horses and 680,000 cattle and the prairie dweller instead of returning to fort or wigwam from his day's work, spends his evenings in his radio-equipped home or motors over good highways to the nearest city.

About a thousand tons of zinc concentrates from Field, B.C., on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, were shipped to Japan recently, this being part of a movement of 1,500 tons monthly from a mine which started five months ago and which ships tend concentrate to California.

Nearly 12,000 extra men are finding employment this summer in the Canadian Pacific Railway program of construction, maintenance and improvement from coast to coast of the Dominion. Program includes laying of branch lines, repairing and renovating of right of way, bridges, tunnels, stations, and other buildings. The men in general are recruited as near as possible to the scene of work and kept steadily employed until each job is finished.

EXPECT TO FINISH SPECIAL SESSION IN TWO WEEKS

Ottawa, August 27: (Special to the Recorder)—A session of Parliament which will set a new record for brevity is planned by the Bennett Government to implement Mr. Bennett's pledge to deal forthwith with the unemployment problem.

While the date of convening the session cannot be fixed until it is known whether the return of ministers will be opposed in by-elections, it is the intention to bring the members together at the earliest possible date in September. The Speech from the Throne is expected to deal only with the business of the session which is unemployment, and it is the decision of the Government that the entire session need not exceed 2 weeks in length.

Another suggestion was that a regular session be called and the House adjourned until after the New Year as soon as emergency legislation was passed. This has, it is understood, been rejected in favor of the two-week sitting for which members will draw only the statutory allowance of $25 per day.

The legislation to be presented will include provision for co-operation with the Provinces and municipalities to forward public works which might otherwise be postponed for a year or two. A considerably expanded program of Federal Public Works is also indicated.

These courses are aimed at the temporary relief of unemployment. The broader policy advocated by Mr. Bennett in his campaign strives to reach basic conditions through agricultural and industrial encouragement. This hinges upon tariff adjustments of a controversial character and specific action will depend largely upon the course of events at the economic conference in London. Hence tariff adjustments, beyond probable suspension of countervailing duties, will not be taken up by the emergency session of the House.

Advance reports do not indicate that the Liberal party will put any impediment in the way of quick disposal of business to enable Mr. Bennett to go to the Empire Conference. In fact Mr. King has indicated his readiness to facilitate matters except where his party might find itself in conflict with the administration on vital principles of government.

THE TENTH OLYMPIAD

Los Angeles, California—Definite dates for the celebration of the World Olympic Games in this city in 1932, will be from July 30 to Sunday August 14, according to an official announcement from the Organizing Committee, following the return of its representatives from the recent Olympic Congress in Berlin.

The program, which will continue for 16 days and nights, will consist of 135 distinct events, including athletics, gymnastics, boxing, wrestling, fencing, rowing, swimming, equestrian sports, Modern Pentathlon, road cycling, weight lifting, yachting, polo, field hockey, water polo, shooting at 50 metres, and Olympic fine arts.

At the Berlin meeting of the International Olympic Committee, the Organizing Committee made its report, which showed that nearly all facilities are already available for the celebration of the Games of the Tenth Olympiad. The greatly reduced costs for participating nations, shown in the report, resulted in enthusiastic responses from the European Committees and assurances of fully representative team from the Olympic countries.

In Olympic Park in Los Angeles are the Olympic Stadium, the fencing pavilion, the Olympic Fine Arts Museum and an excellent exercising field. The Olympic Swim Stadium will be built here. Close by are 15 training fields for visiting teams. Near Olympic Park are Olympic Auditorium for the wrestling, boxing and weight lifting events, polo fields, the equestrian field, the yachting course, rowing stadium and the cycling and marathon courses.

Representative of the Organizing Committee, who attended the Olympic Congress in Berlin, are enthusiastic over the reception of their report and plans, and predict an overwhelming success for the Games at Los Angeles.

THE ROYAL BLUES

It would seem at first glance that there is not a great deal in common between a King and a commoner. On hearing through the columns of The Churchman, of the personal code of Our Sovereign King George V one rejoices to find that they are the strong kindly sentiments which may be shared by even the humblest of his subjects.

History will relate to future generations that the reason the King was enthroned in the hearts of the people of his great Empire was simply that he lived honestly according to his creed and code.

These six sensible rules of living crystallize the best teachings of the wise of all ages. They are not easy to live up to, although simple in their essence. They are rules for the young as well as for the adult, and one feels that as an ideal for children going to school they cannot be surpassed.

Like the aims and objects of the world-wide children's organization, the Junior Red Cross, which numbers its twelve million members in every quarter of the globe, the Royal Rules make for the best citizenship and the finest expression of service.

Let every student copy the following and do his best to live up to His Sovereign's code.

1. Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game.
2. Teach me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, admiring the one and despising the other.
3. Teach me neither to proffer nor to receive cheap praise.
4. If I am called upon to suffer, let me be like a well-bred beast that goes away to suffer in silence.
5. Teach me to win, if I may; if I may not, teach me to be a good loser.
6. Teach me neither to cry for the moon nor to cry over spilt milk.
